

As you are all aware, our nation is currently dealing with a very serious health crisis known as COVID 19 (commonly referred to as the Coronavirus). The President, Governor and local governments have all declared a "State of Emergency" and every effort is being made to reduce possible exposure to this very contagious virus. Schools are being closed for weeks, government offices and courthouses are either closing on a temporary basis or at a minimum suspending all trials and hearings. Many businesses are likewise undertaking action to limit exposure of their staff to this virus from completely closing their doors temporarily to working limited hours or with limited staff. At the present time, our law offices remain open and it is our intention to continue to remain open and provide legal services to our clients. Because of our desire to do our part to limit potential exposure to our employees as well as our clients and colleagues, we are undertaking certain temporary measures at this time. For the next few weeks, we are encouraging all clients NOT to come to the office and to instead communicate with us by telephone and / or email. We will not be scheduling any appointments other than by way of telephone conference for the next few weeks except in cases of absolute emergency. Please also be aware that with various closings and postponements there will be certain delays with respect to legal matters which are inevitable and beyond our control. We are all concerned, anxious, worried and frustrated and it is our hope and prayer that this crisis will pass as quickly as possible and that life will return to normal soon. Please stay safe and thank you as always for allowing us to assist you with your legal needs.
